Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program

Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program

We love what we do. Whether helping start-ups successfully launch exciting new products, or ensuring firms stay competitive at a time of unprecedented regulatory challenges and geopolitical unrest, we can advise you effectively.

You need advisors who know where you are going and can help you navigate the complexities and sensitivities of the regulatory and political environment on your journey. This is why we launched the Hogan Lovells FinTech Mentor Program.

When you operate in the FinTech space, regulation is simply a reality of business.

We can help you understand and implement this regulation effectively, regardless of the growth phase you are in. With offices and partner firms in the major financial centres across the globe, our cross-border, multidisciplinary teams provide the insight you need, wherever and whenever you need it. This covers everything from regulatory compliance procedures, to legal training, assistance with authorisation to advice on highly complex cross-jurisdictional matters.

Benefits of Program membership

LawTech tools

Free or subsidised access while on the program to our LawTech tools offered on Engage Premium, including our Consumer Credit Academy, PISP/AISP Authorisation Toolkits, Payment Services Academy and Blockchain Tools, among others

Cross-industry expertise

Access to experts who understand how industries interact. In today's world, FinTech is not just about financial services, and our experts in ESG, digital assets and technology get that. We'll help you navigate the regulatory overlap between those key areas

Training

Training opportunities through a host of Hogan Lovells and industry events, as well as exclusive video content and publications created for Program members and alumni

Template documents

You'll have access to a suite of template legal documents – including NDAs and privacy policies

Dedicated relationship manager

You will be assigned a dedicated relationship manager who will ensure you receive maximum value from Program membership by guiding you through the suite of support options on offer

Kick-off meeting and regular catch ups

A kick-off meeting so we can get to know you better and understand your business goals. We'll also catch up with you over the course of the Program to check in on how we can help

Legal and consulting support

£25,000 of free legal and / or regulatory consulting services in key areas such as: financial services regulatory advice, digital assets and blockchain, ESG, fundraising and structuring; and building a scalable compliance framework (all services provided to Members, including the allotted £25,000, are at a significant discount to our standard rates)

Networking

Access to our cross-border FinTech network, and our strategic partnerships with Global Digital Finance, Innovate Finance and Payments20. Networking with current and previous mentees. Periodic events hosted by Hogan Lovells, industry experts, and alumni

The Program can provide your company with up to £25,000 of free legal and consultancy services, innovative tools to help you move forward, and access to our network of industry participants and bodies so you can leverage the experiences of others in the sector.

What we are looking for

The Program is open to a wide range of FinTechs, from pure start-ups to more established growth players looking to expand further or launch new products. To us, the FinTech space is more than just traditional financial services and we welcome applications from a wide range of businesses, including those in the areas of banking, lending, payments, investments, sustainable finance, digital assets and digital banking.

We're looking for FinTechs whose proposition is particularly innovative, and who need legal or regulatory consulting advice within the next 12 months.
