

Ethan Klein

Policy Advisor

Office of Science and Technology Policy, The White House

Ethan is a policy advisor for emerging technologies at the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy. At OSTP, Ethan's portfolio includes autonomous and unmanned transportation, advanced nuclear reactors, and novel border security technologies. Prior to joining the White House, Ethan was a science policy fellow at the Science and Technology Policy Institute, where he supported OSTP and the National Science and Technology Council. Ethan graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a bachelor's degree in chemistry and physics and will return in the fall of 2018 to pursue a doctorate in nuclear science and engineering.